

Does the reads generated contain adaptor sequences as in real read data ?

Hi, I'm a newbie in bioinformatics. I have a quick question.

Does the reads generated contain adaptor sequences as in real read data ?

so that I need to use, for example, "cutadapt" SW before doing some transcriptome assembly using the simulated reads ?

Thanks in advance ... Yoon