How to output results in a user specified directory?

I run the following command and the output results are generated in "$indir". Is it possible to specify the output directory? Thanks.

flux-simulator -p "$indir"/example.par